

Avoid up to $150,000 in fines

by purchasing your music license from NFDA.

Playing unlicensed music, places you in violation of the federal copyright law and the penalties can be severe.

This applies whether the music is provided by you or the family.

Each playing of an unlicensed song multiplies your risk...

- Up to $150,000 per song if a jury determines the copyright infringement was "willful"*
- Up to $30,000 per song in damages
- Plus attorney's fees

*If you have previously purchased a music license, it would be difficult to argue any violation was not willful.

Please note that if you webcast funerals featuring covered copyrighted music, you need a special webcasting license.

Don't leave your business vulnerable to costly lawsuits. Purchase your music and webcasting license today.
